From steady to scaled — and worth more at sale

Governance Manager is a proven, profitable platform that has grown modestly — FY26 revenue of A$239,141 from a small client base, despite case studies that demonstrate it can run at whole-of-sector scale. The opportunity is to convert that latent potential into momentum: a focused, aggressive 12-month push to treble revenue to approximately A$717,000 across both direct and partner channels, lifting recurring revenue and materially increasing the value realised on sale.

This plan sets out the growth model, the five pillars that drive it, a quarter-by-quarter activity roadmap, and a fully costed investment of A$117,000 — a lean A$75,000 of marketing and enablement plus a dedicated offshore business development manager (A$42,000) tasked with extending Governance Manager's market presence in any jurisdiction. The model is deliberately channel-led: partners and international distributors carry the cost of in-market selling, funded through margin rather than fixed budget, so the plan still targets a trebling of revenue on a modest outlay.

Where the trebling comes from

Trebling is not achieved through one channel. It is the sum of five compounding levers, weighted toward the scalable channels the case studies already prove — whole-of-sector programs and reseller networks, now extended internationally — rather than slow one-by-one direct sales.

GROWTH LEVER	NEW REVENUE	MECHANISM
FY26 revenue (base)	$239,141	Starting point
Expand 2 existing large clients	+$55,000	More frameworks, business units and users
New whole-of-sector & government programs (3)	+$150,000	Peak bodies / departments, ~A$50k each
Domestic partner / reseller channel (1 → 6 active)	+$144,000	Consulting & audit firms reselling assessments
International software distributors (2–3 signed)	+$45,000	Resellers in priority overseas markets, seed year
Direct assessment-only growth (8 → ~45)	+$84,000	Inbound demand generation & self-serve
12-month target revenue	$717,141	≈ 3.0× FY26

Roughly 60% of the new revenue is recurring (sector, partner and distributor subscriptions and expanded large-client contracts), lifting annual recurring revenue from A$151k to about A$430k — the single most important driver of sale value.

Five pillars of growth

1 • Whole-of-sector & government programs

+$150k

Replicate the NDS and Sport 4 All model: sell once to a peak body or department and deploy across dozens of member entities, with whole-of-sector benchmarking. Highest-value, most defensible revenue. Target three new programs across disability, sport/recreation, local government, health and not-for-profit sectors.

2 • Domestic partner & reseller channel

+$144k

Recruit and enable consulting and audit firms to resell assessments under a formal partner program — deal registration, margin share and co-marketing support. Each partner becomes a multiplier, embedding the platform in their own client engagements. Grow from one reseller to six active partners.

3 • International software distributors

+$45k

Appoint software distributors and resellers in priority overseas markets — starting with aligned, English-speaking jurisdictions (New Zealand, the UK, Ireland, Canada) and selected regional hubs (Singapore, the UAE). Distributors localise, sell and support in-market in exchange for margin, so reach scales with little fixed cost. A dedicated offshore business development manager owns this push across any jurisdiction. Seed two to three agreements in year one, with substantial upside beyond — and a compelling scale story for an acquirer.

4 • Productised direct demand generation

+$84k

Turn the platform into an inbound engine: clear packaging and pricing, SEO and thought-leadership content, paid search and LinkedIn ABM, and a self-serve demo/trial. Grow assessment-only clients from eight to roughly forty-five.

5 • Expand & retain existing clients

+$55k

Land-and-expand the two large clients with additional frameworks, business units and users, and lock in multi-year renewals to strengthen the recurring base ahead of sale. Lowest-cost, lowest-risk revenue.

12-month activity roadmap

Q1

Mo 1-3

Foundations

Recruit and onboard the offshore business development manager; stand up CRM and marketing automation; finalise the partner program, pricing and co-marketing offers; build the international distributor proposition and target list; package existing case studies; build initial pipeline from existing partner and sector contacts.

Q2

Mo 4-6

Launch

Go live with paid media and ABM; sign the first domestic partners; open peak-body and government outreach; the BDM begins international distributor conversations; launch the self-serve demo; progress and close the first new sector program.

Q3

Mo 7-9

Scale

Grow the domestic channel to six active partners and drive assessment volume; sign the first two to three international distributors; close the second and third sector programs; attend priority sector conferences; expand the two large clients.

Q4

Mo 10-12

Convert & lock in for sale

Convert the pipeline and onboard international distributors; secure multi-year renewals to maximise recurring mix; document the repeatable sales, partner and distributor playbook; package the growth narrative and updated metrics into the data room for the sale process.

Fully costed sales & marketing budget

All amounts in A$, covering the 12-month program. It pairs a dedicated offshore business development manager with a lean marketing and enablement budget; partners and international distributors carry the cost of in-market selling, funded through margin rather than fixed budget. Marketing and enablement spend is held to A$75,000.

LINE ITEM	COST
COMMERCIAL
Offshore business development manager (1.0 FTE, any jurisdiction)	42,000
MARKETING & ENABLEMENT
Paid media — Google Ads + LinkedIn ABM	20,500
SEO & content marketing program	13,500
Peak-body & government sector conferences (3)	11,500
Market development / co-marketing fund (partners & distributors)	10,000
Self-serve demo / trial & onboarding automation	6,500
Partner & distributor channel incentives (SPIFFs)	7,000
Marketing automation + CRM	6,000
Marketing & enablement subtotal	75,000
Total 12-month investment	117,000

The offshore business development manager, at A$42,000, is tasked specifically with extending Governance Manager's market presence in any jurisdiction — recruiting partners and international distributors who then carry in-market selling costs from channel margin. Marketing and enablement is held to A$75,000; surge or fractional support can be funded by reprioritising within this envelope.

Why the spend pays back at sale

At A$117,000 — A$75,000 of marketing and enablement plus a A$42,000 offshore BDM — the program is comfortably self-funding within the year: the incremental gross profit on ~A$478k of new revenue far exceeds the spend, because partners and distributors carry the cost of in-market selling. The strategic return is the sale value. Governance Manager is offered at A$650k on FY26 revenue of A$239k, an implied multiple of about 2.7×. Trebling revenue, with a materially higher recurring share and an international distribution footprint, supports a substantially higher valuation.

INDICATIVE VALUE AFTER PLAN

A ~A$117k program supports an indicative A$1.0–1.3m uplift in sale value — an exceptional return, on top of the recurring revenue earned along the way and realised principally at exit.

Recurring revenue (ARR)	A$151k	~A$430k

Performance is reviewed at quarterly gates. Spend is reallocated toward the best-performing channel, and any lever tracking behind plan triggers corrective action before the next quarter’s budget is released.

Risks & mitigations

RISK	MITIGATION
BDM ramp & key-person reliance	The offshore BDM extends reach at low fixed cost; existing leadership and the partner/distributor channel provide leverage and cover while the BDM ramps. Warm pipeline from current relationships bridges the early months.
Channel conflict (direct vs partner)	Clear rules of engagement and deal registration in the partner program; segment sectors and accounts by channel.
International market complexity	Start with aligned, English-speaking markets; distributors handle localisation, support and in-market compliance; seed a few agreements before scaling.
Single-developer delivery capacity	Keep product work light-touch and enablement-focused; reserve contingency for surge development if channel demand spikes.
Aggressive target slips	Quarterly gates with reallocation of spend to the best-performing lever; sector and channel pipeline de-risk reliance on any single deal.
Sale process distracts the team	Ring-fence the existing growth team from due-diligence workload; existing leadership (Tony Friday) owns the growth narrative for the data room.

Recommendation

Approve the A$117,000 program and begin Q1 foundations immediately. The earlier the recurring revenue is built and proven, the stronger the position — and the price — when Governance Manager goes to market. We recommend running the growth plan and the sale preparation in parallel, with the updated metrics feeding directly into the Information Memorandum and data room.

The plan assumes a channel- and distributor-led model led by a dedicated offshore business development manager and the existing team, with partner and distributor selling costs met from channel margin.
