

POWERFUL PEOPLE PERFORMANCE

Lead Generation Playbook

How the Lead Generation Specialist builds a consistent pipeline of qualified sales appointments for Brainbox — the people, the cadence, the standards and the systems.

BRAINBOX

Role purpose & primary objective

The Lead Generation Specialist builds a consistent pipeline of qualified sales appointments for Brainbox. The focus is Western Australian SME companies with 10–100 employees, plus selected Australian and US prospects with a clear fit for offshore services.

WHY THIS ROLE MATTERS

The Lead Generation Specialist is the bridge between marketing and sales — turning marketing's awareness and interest into qualified, sales-ready conversations. The role is considered a key driver of new revenue for Brainbox: the pipeline it creates is where future commercial transactions begin.

The primary output is a booked sales appointment with a suitable decision maker or senior influencer, recorded in HubSpot with a clear business reason, contact history, company profile and recommended sales angle. The target is quality-adjusted, not activity-only — the correct benchmark is appointments held, not appointments booked. Review targets after the first six weeks.

Steady-state weekly targets

20–30

New target accounts to priority nurture

80–120

New contacts researched & enriched

60–80

Personalised first-touch actions

120–180

Follow-up actions (LinkedIn / email / phone)

20–30

Live conversations / two-way exchanges

20+

8–12

Warm opportunities created in HubSpot

4–8

Qualified appointments booked

Plus 2–4 reactivation appointments per week from old leads, enquiries, referrals or dormant HubSpot contacts.

What counts as a qualified appointment

A meeting counts only when all of the following are met:

- The company fits the Brainbox ideal customer profile.
- The contact is a decision maker, budget holder, operational owner or credible internal sponsor.
- The prospect has at least one confirmed or strongly evidenced business driver.
- The meeting is accepted in the sales team calendar.
- The HubSpot record contains clear context for the sales person.
- The prospect was not booked through misleading claims, excessive pressure or vague bait.

Business drivers include: recruitment difficulty, cost pressure, growth, administration overload, a vacant role, delayed work, process failure, poor software utilisation, need for extended hours, need for back-office support, or frustration with local hiring.

Qualify before you book – without over-qualifying

Use only the questions you need. Over-qualifying loses the meeting.

- Which role or function is creating the most pressure right now?
- Is this mainly cost, capacity, recruitment difficulty or process backlog?
- Are you the right person, or someone who manages operations or finance?
- Have you used offshore or outsourced support before?
- Would you prefer to discuss admin, finance, customer service, marketing or operations support?

Suggested opening question

RECOMMENDED OPENING QUESTION FOR SALES

“What prompted you to take the call, and which part of your team is carrying the most pressure at the moment?”

Ideal customer profile

Primary market: WA SMEs with 10–100 employees. Priority locations are Perth metro, Peel, South West, Great Southern, Goldfields, Pilbara and Mid West where there is centralised administration or recurring back-office work.

Priority sectors

- Accounting & bookkeeping firms
- Mortgage & finance brokers
- Real estate agencies & settlement businesses
- Strata management businesses
- Freight forwarding & logistics
- Manufacturers & fabricators
- Engineering & construction services
- Civil contractors & trades with office needs
- Registered training organisations
- Allied health, disability & youth services
- Insurance brokers
- Professional services firms
- IT managed service providers
- Marketing agencies
- Recruitment firms
- E-commerce & wholesale distribution

Account selection criteria

Target accounts should meet at least four of the following:

- 10–100 employees
- WA-based or with a meaningful WA office
- Visible admin, finance, marketing, customer service, compliance, estimating, scheduling or ops roles
- Recently advertised for support staff
- Multiple office staff visible on LinkedIn
- Uses offshore-supportable software (Xero, MYOB, HubSpot, Zoho, CargoWise, Simpro, ServiceM8, PropertyMe, Property Tree, Reapit, Salesforce, Pipedrive, Moodle, aXcelerate, SharePoint, Teams)
- Growth signals: new locations, services, contracts, leadership hires, investment, recruitment
- Labour-pressure signals: repeated job ads, long vacancies, high-volume admin roles, "urgent hiring" posts
- Likely recurring process work
- Owner-led or founder-led
- Management team small enough to value direct cost & capacity improvement
- Not too small to afford support, not too large for long enterprise procurement

PURSUE

- WA SMEs with visible back-office functions
- Active recruiters for support roles
- Owner / founder-led businesses
- Recurring, process-heavy workloads

EXCLUDE

- Too small / too large for the model
- Heavily regulated with no offshore-suitable functions
- Government agencies, charities without budget signals
- No visible decision makers; poor fit; already in active sales discussions

Priority buyer personas

Target multiple people per account — offshore services are usually bought after several people recognise the same pressure. Aim for at least one senior decision maker and one operational influencer.

PRIMARY DECISION MAKERS

- Owner · Founder · Managing Director
- CEO · General Manager · COO · CFO
- Director of Operations
- Practice Principal · Managing Partner

INFLUENCERS & SECONDARY BUYERS

- Operations / Finance / HR Manager
- People & Culture · Office · Practice Manager
- Sales / Marketing / Client Services Manager
- Property · Service Delivery · Compliance Manager

Role-specific buyers by sector

Sector	Target roles
Accounting firm	Partner · Practice Manager · Client Services Manager · Bookkeeping Manager
Mortgage broker	Principal Broker · Operations Manager · Loan Processing Manager
Real estate agency	Principal · General Manager · Sales Operations Manager · Property Management Head
Freight & logistics	Managing Director · Operations Manager · Branch Manager · Finance Manager
RTO	CEO · General Manager · Student Services Manager · Compliance Manager
Fabrication / trades	Owner · General Manager · Estimating Manager · Operations Manager · Finance Manager
Allied health / NDIS	Director · Practice Manager · Rostering Manager · Finance Manager

What each persona responds to

Persona	What they care about	Lead with
Owner / MD / Founder	Growth, margin, and freeing senior people from low-value work without over-hiring locally.	Capacity & cost control without added local overhead.
Operations / GM	Backlogs, turnaround time, process consistency and team capacity.	Removing the repeatable work behind the team.
Finance / CFO	Loaded cost of local roles, overtime and predictable spend.	Cost comparison against a managed offshore role.
HR / People & Culture	Hard-to-fill roles, turnover and recruitment load.	Stable support without another local hire.
Office / Practice Manager	Day-to-day admin overload, coverage and documentation.	Offloading admin so the office runs smoothly.

Multi-thread every Tier 1 account. Reach a senior decision maker for authority and an operational influencer for the felt pain — the deal moves when both recognise the same pressure. Tailor the angle to each person rather than sending one message to everyone.

The weekly rhythm

Mon

Plan, pick verticals, build & score target accounts, map contacts, prep messaging & tasks.

Tue

Finish enrichment, run first-touch outreach, make first calls, engage on LinkedIn, book early meetings.

Wed

Follow-up wave + second first-touch, priority calls, expand triggers, complete handovers.

Thu

Convert warm leads, call engaged prospects, mine referrals, reactivate old leads, handle objections.

Fri

Confirm meetings, close-the-loop, clean HubSpot, compliance, review performance, prep next week.

Daily time blocks

Time	Focus
8:30–9:00	Pipeline review and priority setting
9:00–10:30	Account and contact research
10:30–12:00	New outreach
12:00–12:30	HubSpot updates and task completion
1:00–2:30	Follow-up calls, LinkedIn responses, email replies
2:30–3:30	Appointment setting and sales handovers
3:30–4:30	Data enrichment, list hygiene, trigger monitoring
4:30–5:00	Daily summary, blockers and next-day queue

Daily non-negotiables

- Review every overdue HubSpot task.
- Clear all replies before starting new prospecting.
- Update lifecycle stage, lead status and next action for every active contact touched.
- Check Sales Navigator alerts for saved leads and accounts.
- Check Apollo data confidence before sending or calling.
- Log all calls, emails, LinkedIn touches and meeting outcomes.
- Check bounced emails, unsubscribes and opt-outs.
- Send no outreach to contacts marked unsubscribed, opted out, do not contact, competitor, supplier, employee, unsuitable, student, personal or legal risk.
- Progress new connections on the assigned sales-exec LinkedIn profiles toward the weekly minimum.

Sales-executive LinkedIn network growth

Brainbox sales conversations land better when the request comes from the sales executive's own network. The Lead Generation Specialist is responsible for growing that network on the executive's behalf.

MANDATORY WEEKLY REQUIREMENT

Each week, the Lead Generation Specialist must log in as one of the sales executives (using approved, delegated access) and generate at least 20 new, relevant connections from that executive's LinkedIn profile — targeting decision makers and influencers that match the Brainbox ICP and the week's vertical focus.

HOW TO RUN IT

- Use only delegated access the sales executive has explicitly approved — never undisclosed or shared credentials outside that arrangement.
- Send personalised connection requests as the executive, matched to the weekly vertical and a relevant trigger.
- Keep the executive's voice and tone — warm, human, no pitch in the connection note.
- Stagger requests through the week to stay within LinkedIn limits and look human.
- Record each connected contact in HubSpot with source "Sales-exec LinkedIn" and the owning executive.

STANDARDS & GUARDRAILS

- Minimum 20 new accepted-or-pending relevant connection requests per executive profile, per week; quality and fit come before raw volume.
- No automation tools that breach LinkedIn rules or risk the executive's account.
- Respect every opt-out, decline and "do not contact" signal immediately.
- Hand newly connected contacts into the normal nurture and outreach cadence.
- Report new connections per executive in the weekly report.

EXAMPLE CONNECTION NOTE (SENT AS THE EXECUTIVE)

"Hi [Name], I work with WA SMEs on building high-performing teams and managed offshore support. I noticed your team is active in [sector] — it would be good to connect."

Pacing to hit 20+ a week

Day	New connection requests, per executive profile
Monday	4–5 — aligned to the week's vertical, drawn from the target list
Tuesday	4–5 — decision makers from Tier 1 accounts
Wednesday	4–5 — operational influencers & 2nd-degree connections
Thursday	3–4 — warm-path and referral connections
Friday	3–4 — top up to the weekly minimum and tidy pending requests

Marketing-led campaign tasks

As the bridge between marketing and sales, the Lead Generation Specialist also delivers campaign-specific tasks allocated by the Marketing Manager — event and webinar follow-ups, content and EDM lists, sector campaigns and inbound enquiry qualification.

HOW CAMPAIGN WORK FITS THE WEEK

Campaign tasks are not run separately from the core cadence — they must be cross-referenced into the existing weekly activities and targets. Campaign follow-ups count toward first-touch, follow-up, call and conversation targets; campaign-sourced meetings count toward booked and held appointments.

EACH MONDAY

- Confirm with the Marketing Manager any live or upcoming campaigns and the specific tasks allocated.
- Fold campaign accounts and contacts into the week's target list and tiering — not a parallel queue.
- Agree priority and any deadlines that differ from the standard cadence.

THROUGH THE WEEK

- Action campaign tasks inside the normal time blocks (research, outreach, calls, conversion).
- Log campaign touches against both the weekly targets and the campaign tag in HubSpot.
- Report campaign progress and outcomes back to the Marketing Manager and in the weekly report.

Typical campaign tasks — and where they count

Campaign task	Cross-references into the weekly targets
Event / webinar registration follow-up	First-touch & call targets; campaign-sourced meetings count to booked / held
Content-download / gated-asset list	Follow-up & conversation targets; tag source as the campaign
EDM / nurture list activation	Follow-up targets; respect every opt-out
Sector or offer campaign	New target accounts & first-touch; align to the weekly vertical
Inbound enquiry qualification	Warm opportunities & appointments booked

Attribution & speed-to-lead

TAG EVERY CAMPAIGN CONTACT

- Campaign name and source on the contact and the company.
- Original channel — event, content, EDM, paid or referral.
- Lifecycle stage and lead status, kept current.
- Owner — the specialist and the eventual sales owner.

INBOUND SPEED-TO-LEAD

- Action campaign-sourced inbound enquiries the same day where possible.
- Hot inbound (demo, pricing, “contact us”) within the hour in business hours.
- Never let a marketing-generated lead sit without a next task.
- Feed outcomes back so marketing can see what converted.

One shared scoreboard. Campaign work counts toward the same weekly targets, so report it in one view — the specialist's numbers show both self-sourced and campaign-sourced activity.

Day-by-day cadence

Monday — plan & build

Monday creates control of the week: define who will be targeted, why they are likely to care, and what appointment outcome is expected.

Block	Action
8:30–9:00	Sales alignment. Review last week's booked & held meetings, capture sales feedback on lead quality, agree the weekly sector focus, message theme, appointment capacity and the case studies / offers to use.
9:00–10:30	Target account build. Build / refresh 20–30 priority accounts via Sales Navigator, Apollo, HubSpot, job ads, directories and referral lists. Filter on WA, 10–100 staff, the weekly vertical, private ownership, stable/positive headcount, recent hiring and visible support functions.
10:30–11:30	Account scoring (see model below). Tier 1 (80+) gets multi-threaded outreach this week; Tier 2 (60–79) enters nurture with selected direct outreach; Tier 3 (40–59) is held for a trigger.
11:30–12:30	Buyer mapping. Identify 3–5 contacts per Tier 1 account — at least one senior decision maker and one operational influencer. Record role, LinkedIn, email, phone, source, confidence, buying influence and proposed angle.
1:00–2:30	Trigger research. Find the specific reason to contact each priority account (hiring, growth, capacity, cost, process, leadership, service or content trigger). Record the exact trigger — never generic assumptions.
2:30–3:30	Message prep. Create a personalised angle per Tier 1 account and three weekly message variations (Owner/MD, Operations/GM, Finance/HR). Connect to a business issue, not a generic outsourcing pitch.
3:30–4:30	HubSpot set-up. Create tasks & sequences, account notes, lifecycle stage, lead status, next-activity date, vertical & pain tags, owner; check for duplicates and prior “do not contact” status.
4:30–5:00	Close-out. Send the sales lead a summary: vertical focus, Tier 1 count, contacts mapped, best five accounts to watch, main triggers, planned Tuesday first-touch volume, and any data / tool issues.

Hints & tips. Build the list before writing a single message — targeting beats volume. Bank three reusable angles per vertical so Tuesday starts fast. If an account has no clear trigger, it is not a Monday priority.

Tuesday — main outreach day

Start high-quality conversations and create the first wave of follow-up tasks. Clear replies and urgent follow-ups before any new outreach.

Block	Action
8:30–9:00	Queue review. Clear replies, LinkedIn notifications and Apollo bounces. Move warm replies to immediate action before any new outreach.
9:00–10:00	Final enrichment. Validate emails, direct dials, titles and current role via Apollo and LinkedIn; check the website and recent job ads; de-duplicate; mark email confidence. Never use guessed personal addresses.
10:00–12:00	First-touch block. Send 25–35 personalised first touches across channels. One strong reason; keep it short.
1:00–2:00	Call block. Call 15–25 priority contacts: warm replies, accepted connections, openers, Tier 1 decision makers, active hiring triggers. Aim for a short discovery meeting, not a full pitch.
2:00–3:00	LinkedIn engagement. Comment thoughtfully, react, follow pages, save leads/accounts, find referral paths. No mass-liking, no automated comments, no public pitching.
3:00–4:00	Appointment conversion. Reply to all; book into the sales calendar with a clear title, agenda, video link, HubSpot association and handover note.
4:00–5:00	Clean-up & prep. Update statuses, mark bounces/unsubscribes, create Wednesday tasks, prepare the next 20–30 contacts.

FIRST-TOUCH STRUCTURE · OBSERVATION → ISSUE → OUTCOME → SOFT QUESTION → NEXT STEP

“I noticed you are recruiting for an accounts support role in Perth. Brainbox helps WA SMEs add trained offshore finance and admin capacity when local hiring is slow or expensive. Would it be worth a short call to compare the role with an offshore support model?”

Hints & tips. Clear replies before new outreach — a warm reply outranks any cold send. Keep first touches under five sentences and lead with the trigger, not the service. Call the people who just accepted or opened first.

Wednesday — follow-up & momentum

Combine a structured follow-up wave with a second first-touch wave — building on Tuesday, not starting over.

Block	Action
8:30–9:00	Reply & task review. Classify every reply (positive, referral, not now, no budget, already outsourced, local-only, wrong person, unsubscribe, complaint risk) and action it — positives get a same-day appointment request, referrals within the hour.
9:00–10:30	Follow-up wave 1. Add value or context — never repeat a message. Angles: cost comparison, recruitment difficulty, role suitability, example roles, speed to deploy, after-hours coverage.
10:30–12:00	New outreach. 20–30 new first touches, prioritising more contacts in accounts already touched. Multi-thread in a controlled way — never five identical messages to one company in a day.
1:00–2:30	Call block. Call 20–30 contacts using the persona scripts (Owner/MD, Operations, Finance, HR).
2:30–3:30	Trigger expansion. Find new triggers in the same vertical via job boards, news, posts, tenders and association updates; add strong-signal contacts.
3:30–4:30	Sales handovers. Prepare a complete handover note for every booked appointment.
4:30–5:00	Close-out. Progress note to the sales lead.

Multi-thread	Pattern
Day 1	Owner or MD
Day 2	Operations or Finance
Day 4	HR or Practice Manager
Day 7	Second decision maker if no response

Hints & tips. Never resend the same message — each follow-up must add a new angle. Space multi-threaded contacts across days, not all at once. A complete handover note is what makes a booked meeting count.

Thursday — conversion day

Turn interest into appointments and create urgency before the week ends.

Block	Action
8:30–10:30	Warm lead review & calls. Build a warm-lead list (opens/clicks, acceptances, positive/referral replies, missed calls, prior cancellations, old activity) and call it. Call → voicemail where appropriate → immediate LinkedIn/email follow-up → next task.
10:30–12:00	Appointment setting. Book only. Offer two specific times, send invites immediately, confirm attendees and qualification, reschedule stalled positives, confirm next-week meetings.
1:00–2:00	Referral mining. Find warm paths into target accounts; prepare specific, easy-to-action referral requests for directors, sales team or partners.
2:00–3:30	Recycled lead campaign. Build a reactivation list of 10–20 contacts (closed-lost 6+ months, old enquiries, “not now”, role-changers, recent hirers, dormant right-industry) and send short, specific reactivation outreach.
3:30–4:30	Objection handling & nurture. Work replies, set nurture dates, and record objections needing sales input.
4:30–5:00	Close-out. Report appointments booked, warm leads not yet booked, referral requests required and Friday priorities.

BOOKING LANGUAGE

“Would Tuesday at 10:00am or Wednesday at 2:00pm suit for a 20-minute call with [sales person]?” · “Would it help to include the person who manages recruitment or operations?”

Hints & tips. Offer two specific times, never “when suits you”. Send the invite while still on the call. Reactivation is the cheapest pipeline you have — work it every week.

Friday — protect quality & prepare

Friday protects quality — convert late-week opportunities, clean data, review performance and prepare next week.

Block	Action
8:30–9:00	Meeting confirmation. Confirm next week's meetings, reminders, invites, handover notes and decision-maker attendance.
9:00–10:30	Final follow-up. Polite close-the-loop messages — no pressure.
10:30–12:00	Database hygiene. Merge duplicates; correct domains, titles, LinkedIn URLs, status, lifecycle, industry, employee range, location, source; mark bounces/opt-outs; remove bad numbers; record disqualification reasons.
12:00–12:30	Compliance check. Confirm no unsubscribed contacts were messaged, sender details & unsubscribe present, sources recorded, no unauthorised automation or uncontrolled CSV exports.
1:00–3:00	Performance review & sales feedback. Review the week's metrics, then meet the sales lead on meeting quality, fit and targeting.
3:00–5:00	Next-week prep & report. Prepare the first 10–15 accounts and saved searches; send the weekly report to management.

Hints & tips. Confirm next week's meetings before anything else — a held meeting beats a booked one. Leave no active lead without a next step. End the week with next week already built.

Channel cadences

EMAIL

Day 1	Short personalised email
Day 3	Follow-up with role / trigger angle
Day 6	Short value-based follow-up
Day 10	Phone call + LinkedIn touch
Day 14	Close-the-loop email
Day 45–60	Nurture, if lawful and no opt-out

One purpose per email; sender ID & opt-out where required. Stop on unsubscribe, complaint, refusal, bounce or do-not-contact.

PHONE

- Attempt 1: same day as first email for high-priority accounts.
- Attempt 2: two business days later.
- Attempt 3: after a LinkedIn acceptance, open, reply or referral.
- Attempt 4: before closing the loop.
- Log immediately; voicemails short and rare; max four attempts per fortnight unless engaged.

LINKEDIN

Day 1	View profile + connection request
Day 2–3	If accepted, thank-you + reason
Day 5–7	Relevant business question
Day 10–14	Short Brainbox-relevant insight
Day 21–30	Move to light nurture if no response

No full pitch in connection notes. Human, selective, platform-compliant.

REFERRAL & REACTIVATION

- Identify referral paths every week via directors, clients, partners, accountants, CFOs, HR consultants, associations and 2nd-degree connections.
- Make requests specific and easy to action — name the person, company and reason for relevance.
- Reactivate every Thursday/Friday from closed-lost, old enquiries, “not now” dates reached, role-changers and dormant connections.

Example messages

LINKEDIN CONNECTION NOTE

“Hi [Name], I work with WA SMEs on offshore admin, finance and operations support. I noticed your team is active in [sector] — it would be good to connect.”

REACTIVATION

“We spoke previously about offshore support and the timing wasn’t right. I noticed [trigger] — would a short call next week be useful to compare options for [function]?”

STRONG REFERRAL REQUEST

“Do you know [Name], Managing Director at [Company]? There may be a fit — they are hiring for two admin roles. A short introduction would help us discuss offshore support options.”

Objection handling

How to handle any objection. Acknowledge it sincerely, reframe to the business issue, then ask one question that keeps the conversation open. Never argue and never oversell — the goal is a short meeting, not winning the point.

Objection	Response angle
"We are too small."	That is often why this works — one offshore role removes repeatable work without building a larger local management structure.
"We tried outsourcing before."	Useful context. Brainbox is a managed offshore staffing model, not a task marketplace — the difference is recruitment, supervision, process design and retention.
"We only hire locally."	That makes sense for client-facing or site-based work. Brainbox usually supports the process work behind local staff, not the local relationship roles.
"We do not have budget."	The starting point is comparing current local hiring cost, overtime, delays and management load against an offshore support role.
"Send me information."	Happy to send a short summary — it may be more useful to first understand whether you're looking at admin, finance, customer service, marketing or operations support.
"Not now."	Understood. Is this worth revisiting in three months, or should I close the loop?
"We're happy as we are."	Great to hear — most of our clients were too. They added support to protect that, not to fix a problem. Worth a 15-minute compare?
"What about data security?"	Fair question. Brainbox staff work under managed access, supervision and clear policies — happy to walk your team through exactly how that works.
"We'll sort it internally."	Understandable. It usually comes down to timing and management load — offshore support often bridges the gap until that internal hire lands.

Call angles by persona

OWNER / MD

"Many WA owners are not trying to replace local staff — they are trying to remove the process work that stops local staff selling, servicing clients or managing projects."

OPERATIONS

"Brainbox can support the repeatable work that builds up behind scheduling, quoting, customer updates, inboxes, reconciliations and CRM administration."

FINANCE

"Brainbox can help compare the loaded cost of local support roles against managed offshore staff for process-heavy work."

"Brainbox can help where a role is hard to fill locally, has high turnover, or needs stable support without running another recruitment process."

Know when to stop. A clear "no" is a gift — it frees time for better-fit accounts. Close the loop kindly, set a nurture date if appropriate, and move on. Respect every opt-out immediately.

Sector playbooks

Sector	Likely pain	Angle
Accounting & bookkeeping	Bookkeeping capacity, BAS workload, client onboarding, payroll, document collection, Xero/MYOB processing, hiring cost.	Offshore processing that frees local accountants for advisory & client management.
Mortgage & finance broking	Loan processing, document follow-up, CRM updates, lender portals, compliance checklists, client comms.	Offshore loan administration that improves broker capacity & turnaround.
Real estate & strata	Trust accounting, property management admin, maintenance coordination, listings, settlements, CRM.	Offshore admin that removes repetitive work from local property & sales teams.
Freight & logistics	Data entry, customer updates, document handling, invoicing, shipment tracking, CargoWise, after-hours comms.	Offshore logistics admin that extends capacity & reduces back-office pressure.
Construction, trades & fabrication	Quoting support, supplier follow-up, scheduling, purchase orders, invoicing, CRM, project docs.	Offshore support for repeatable office work so local staff focus on delivery.
RTOs & training	Student admin, enrolment, compliance evidence, LMS admin, certificates, payment follow-up.	Offshore student & compliance admin that supports scale without overload.
Allied health & NDIS	Rostering, billing, intake admin, client follow-up, document management, compliance records.	Offshore admin that improves responsiveness & reduces local admin burden.

Software signals worth flagging

Visible use of any of these signals offshore-supportable process work — record it on the account.

Your toolkit & how it fits together

Five tools carry the role. Each has a clear job — the value is in the handoff between them: discover, enrich, draft, record, send, then record again.

LINKEDIN & SALES NAVIGATOR

Discover and research accounts and decision makers, watch for triggers and warm paths, engage socially, and grow the sales executives' networks (20+ new connections each week).

APOLLO

Find, filter, enrich and validate contacts — verified emails, direct dials and current titles — then push only action-ready contacts to HubSpot. Review bounces daily; never dump large lists.

CLAUDE

Synthesise account research, draft personalised first-touch and follow-up variations, summarise prospects and build clean handover notes — faster output that keeps the warm, kind Brainbox tone. Always review before sending.

HUBSPOT

The source of truth. Every account, contact, task, sequence, lifecycle stage and outcome lives here, with the reporting and dashboards that track pipeline through to revenue.

OUTLOOK

Compliant email outreach and the calendar — send sender-identified email, book discovery meetings directly into the sales team's calendars, and issue invites with the agenda and video link.

The interplay — one flow

1 · LinkedIn / Sales Navigator — discover & trigger

2 · Apollo — enrich & validate

3 · Claude — research & draft

4 · HubSpot — record, task & sequence

5 · Outlook — send & book

6 · HubSpot — log, report & hand over

HubSpot sits at the centre: Apollo and LinkedIn feed clean records in, Claude shapes the message, Outlook executes the touch and the booking, and every result returns to HubSpot — so nothing is lost between marketing, the specialist and sales.

Golden rules

- One system of record. If it isn't in HubSpot, it didn't happen.
- Enrich before you send. Apollo confidence checked; no guessed personal emails.
- Claude drafts, you decide. Always review and personalise before sending.
- LinkedIn stays human. No automation that risks an account or the brand.
- Outlook sends, HubSpot logs. Every email and meeting tracked or logged.
- Close the loop daily. Bounces, opt-outs and replies cleared before new work.

HubSpot – the source of truth

Update in real time. A record is not complete unless the next step is clear. No active lead without a next task; no meeting without a handover note; no disqualified lead closed without a reason.

REQUIRED ON EVERY ACCOUNT

Name · website · industry · location · employee range · target vertical · ICP tier · account score · source · key trigger · primary pain hypothesis · relevant software · sales owner · LGS owner · last & next activity · status.

REQUIRED ON EVERY CONTACT

Name · role · company · email · phone · LinkedIn · persona · buying role · seniority · source · lawful-contact basis · lead status · lifecycle stage · last activity · next task · sequence · opt-out status · notes.

LEAD STATUSES

DISQUALIFICATION REASONS

Daily HubSpot discipline

- Update in real time — a record isn't complete until the next step is set.
- No lead in an active status without a next task.
- No meeting booked without a handover note.
- No disqualified lead closed without a reason.
- Log every call, email and LinkedIn touch.
- Check for duplicates before creating a record.
- Keep lifecycle stage and lead status current.
- Email only from approved, tracked systems — or log it manually.

What each stage is for

FOUNDATION · WK 1–2

Learn the market, tools, systems, messaging and qualification standard. Protect data accuracy above raw volume.

RAMP · WK 3–4

Increase activity while protecting quality. Hold task completion at 90% or higher.

PERFORMANCE · WK 5–6

Establish predictable appointment production with a meeting show rate above 70%.

STEADY STATE · WK 7+

Optimise conversion and reduce wasted activity; sustain a show rate above 75%.

Quality & compliance standards

EVERY MESSAGE IS

- Relevant, short, specific, respectful
- Easy to answer and accurate
- Linked to a clear business reason
- Consistent with “Always Be Kind”
- Something that would not embarrass Brainbox if forwarded

EVERY MESSAGE AVOIDS

- Generic outsourcing spam & long service lists
- Unverified claims, fake urgency, false familiarity
- Guilt-based language
- Overuse of automation & aggressive follow-up
- Any repeated contact after opt-out

DATA & COMPLIANCE CONTROLS

- Record source for every contact; record opt-outs immediately.
- Never contact unsubscribed contacts.
- Do not collect unnecessary or sensitive personal information.
- Do not use personal social media or scraped data from unapproved sources.
- No uncontrolled CSV exports outside approved systems.
- Use approved sending tools, sender ID and unsubscribe mechanisms.
- Review bounces daily; suppress invalid emails; escalate complaints.
- Follow platform rules for LinkedIn, Apollo and HubSpot.

Measures of success

FINAL SUCCESS MEASURE

The number of leads that turn into sales opportunities and subsequently become a commercial transaction. Every other metric below is a leading indicator of this single revenue outcome — the reason the role exists as a key driver of new revenue for Brainbox.

PRIMARY

- Qualified appointments booked
- Qualified appointments held
- Appointments → opportunities
- Opportunities → proposals
- Proposals → clients

SECONDARY

- Positive reply & call connection rate
- LinkedIn acceptance & referral rate
- No-show & disqualification rate
- Time from first touch to appointment
- Activity completion & data accuracy

QUALITY

- Sales acceptance of leads
- Meeting relevance & correct persona
- Clear pain point & complete handovers
- Low complaint / unsubscribe / bounce rate
- Few duplicate records

Review cadence: a short daily end-of-day note, a 30-minute weekly review with the sales lead, and a 60-minute monthly performance & market review with management.

Reporting cadence

DAILY NOTE

First touches, follow-ups, calls, conversations, appointments, warm replies, issues needing help and tomorrow's priority.

WEEKLY REVIEW · 30 MIN

Appointments booked & held, meeting quality, conversion by sector, message performance, objections, data quality, next-week priorities and sales support needed.

MONTHLY REVIEW · 60 MIN

Appointment trends, revenue conversion, sector & source performance, sales feedback, data & compliance, tool performance, campaign & messaging changes and market refinements.
